For years I have wanted to be a part of a camp where teaching was important. I don't want to see kids just running around and playing. I want them to get instruction on the fundamentals and that is what we are here to do. I personally promise we will teach each and every player in camp to play the game of basketball properly and still have fun doing it. If you are tired of wasting your hard earned money at other camps that do not teach, then we look forward to seeing you this summer at the Freeport Rec.

Sincerely, Coach Sullivan

Our Philosophy

When choosing a basketball camp for a young player, it is important to make sure that the camp offers a quality coaching staff at an adequate location. All of our camps are directed and staffed by intense, experienced coaches from various levels.

We only offer a week or two at each location because we believe that basketball camp is a place to learn and then practice what you have learned on your own. This is the recipe for becoming a better player.
